

Professor Nelson Phillips
Tanaka Business School
Imperial College London

Understanding Fashion Entrepreneurship – Nelson Phillips & Neri Karra

In this paper, we explore the challenges involved in fashion entrepreneurship and discuss the entrepreneurial capabilities that are required of these special entrepreneurs. Based on a study of fashion entrepreneurs in London, we explore the success factors that underlie new ventures in the fashion industry and the characteristics of the entrepreneurs who found them. We conclude with a discussion of the implications of our study for theory and practice.